Con-netting Light, Frankfurt

During Luminale, a festival dedicated to the culture of light, Foscarini presents a preview of the CON-NETTING LIGHT exhibition at the Museum of Applied Arts in Frankfurt. The exhibition is dedicated to the new TROPICO project which the company is developing with designer Giulio Iacchetti. The event will also include the presentation of issue number nine of Lux magazine, on the theme of irony.

Genesis Foscarini, Milan

A new project-event in the spaces of Superstudio Più in Via Tortona 27: this is Foscarini's program for the Milan design week (April 16-21). GENESIS FOSCARINI will be a reflection and exploration of the emotions that underlie the company's products, an investigation into what leads to the conception of each new lamp, each with its own different personality, history, development process.

News

Fiber Evolution in Vienna

From March 5 through 9 the FIBER EVOLUTION installations designed by Marc Sadler – previously shown in Cologne and Stockholm – were featured in the lobby of the Home Depot trade fair in Vienna. In addition to the large floor sculptures, two theatrical suspension lamps composed of an array of Mites (with a 4 meters diameter) dominated the magnificent space of the SempDepot: a challenge, to conceive and play with new ways of using Foscarini lamps. The next appointment with Fiber Evolution will be in New York in May, during the ICFE.

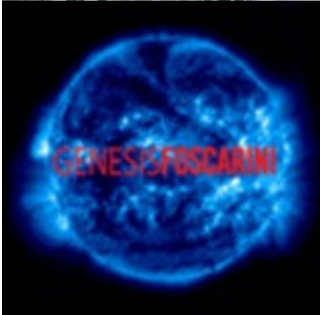

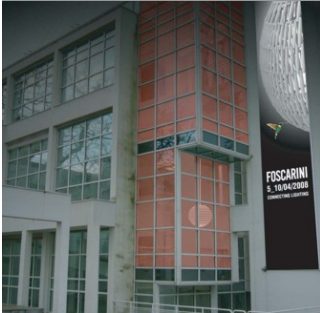

Progetti & Paesaggi, Bologna

From March 12 to 15, Foscarini met the contract world at 'Progetti & Paesaggi', the new exposition format presented by the Fiera di Bologna. An entire exposition pavilion was dedicated to the theme of in-outdoor and interpreted by four designers. Lamps by Foscarini furnished the 'Hotel In & Out' space designed by Giulio Cappellini: an ideal business hotel where the lamps from the collection and the two installations from the Fiber Evolution series characterized the space.
